

If You Want to Learn

If you want to learn, well I've got skills to burn, Ministrare.
I'll conduct a class, on beads in lamp work glass, today!
But be wary as you play, lest your eyebrows burn away.
Though it might have been the fashion of the day.

Chorus: Oh, how I love to fill your brain!
 It's like singing in the rain!
 Teaching is the thing I most adore!

If you really care, I've got the time to spare, Ministrare.
Sit down and I'll opine, on technique broad and fine, today!
Here's some parchment, ink, and pen, just don't lick your fingers then
You won't die from pigment poisoning my friend.

(Chorus)

If you prefer to swing, then step into my ring, Ministrare.
I'll train you 'til you're sore, and you'll come back for more, today!
Build your kit with blades and shields, and I'll get you on the fields
But to haul your gear you'll need some bigger wheels.

(Chorus)

Oh! (Half step up)
When you want something new, I've got the thing for you, Ministrare.
The fastest way to learn, is teaching feel the burn, today!
Share your knowledge and your skill, and I guarantee you will Help a fellow learning junkie get a thrill!

(Chorus)

So here comes my big ending
With these hands extending
I invite you to come share your lore!
